1. Outline progress over the last 6 months (April – September) against the agreed project implementation timetable (if your project started less than 6 months ago, please report on the period since start up to end of September).

Although we are not looking for specific reporting against your indicators, please use this opportunity to consider the appropriateness of your monitoring, evaluation and learning (MEL) systems (are your indicators still relevant, can you report against any Standard Indicators, do your assumptions still hold true?). The guidance can be found on the resources page of the relevant fund website.

During the reporting period, the project made significant progress in strengthening community-based human-elephant coexistence (HEC) initiatives across Assam and Meghalaya.

Output 1: Profiling the problem and building evidence

The team continued monitoring HEC incidents and elephant movement through Village Champions (VCs) and Rapid Response Units (RRUs). Between April and September, 24 incidents of crop damage, 22 of property damage, and one human injury were recorded, alongside one suspected electrocution-related elephant death. Findings were analysed and shared during 20 village meetings held across eastern Assam and Meghalaya to inform local stakeholders and guide ongoing interventions.

Output 2: Promoting security for people and elephants by raising awareness

Awareness and capacity-building activities were expanded through three Gajah Kotha events and 27 other outreach sessions, reaching over 2,700 participants, including 1,295 students. Eleven VCs from Assam and Meghalaya participated in an exposure visit to the Kaziranga-Karbi Anglong landscape to learn from indigenous communities about eco-tourism, agroforestry, and craft-based livelihoods.

Media engagement remained strong, with HEC mitigation workshops for journalists and radio collaborations with All India Radio Jorhat and DD Assam to disseminate conservation messages. The project also marked key environmental observances including World Environment Day, International Day for Biological Diversity, and World Elephant Day through community-led events, school programmes, and wall-painting campaigns to celebrate coexistence.

Output 3: Protecting livelihoods and assets

RRUs are now active in 58 villages, sharing 46 timely alert messages that helped communities avoid conflict. Five out of fifteen solar fences were operational, protecting 32.9 acres of farmland valued at INR 121.4 lakhs, while ten are under maintenance. Biofencing now covers a total of 19.3 km in all, which includes 3.5 km lost to floods and other causes; 740 metres have already been restored, and additional repairs are underway. The project also distributed 50 torchlights to local communities, forest officials, and police to support night-time response efforts.

Output 4: Promoting supplementary livelihoods

In Assam, 439 participants (252 women & 187 men) earned a combined INR 18.96 lakh, while 57 beneficiaries (40 women & 17 men) in Meghalaya earned INR 1.86 lakh. Many participants reinvested part of their income in raw materials, and 218 weavers received yarn support to strengthen production. Five district-level buyer-seller meets connected 84 producers (79 of whom were women) to markets, enhancing income opportunities and visibility for local enterprises.

Output 5: Sharing knowledge and building capacity

Twenty joint village meetings were organised to review progress and share lessons. Additionally, the team presented findings at the 'Elephants of Assam VI' symposium, highlighting best practices in human-elephant coexistence.

2. Give details of any notable problems or unexpected developments/lessons learnt that the project has encountered over the last 6 months. Explain what impact these could have on the project and whether the changes will affect the budget and timetable of project activities.

Severe floods during the reporting period disrupted plans to hold the final project workshop in June 2025, which was intended to bring together community representatives, government departments, and other agencies from across India where HEC is an emerging issue. Many key stakeholders were engaged in flood relief efforts, and travel to affected areas remained difficult. To ensure full participation and meaningful knowledge exchange, rather than holding a token event, we requested a no-cost extension until December 2025. This will allow sufficient time to complete pending activities and deliver the final workshop under more stable conditions, ensuring the event's quality and impact can be maximised.

3. Have any of these issues been discussed with NIRAS and if so, have changes been made to the original agreement?
